

WHAT THE AIR WAVES ARE SAYING OVER CJCA

The story of a dead-end kid who kept getting into trouble is dramatized on "Big Town" with Edward G. Robinson as managing editor Steve Wilson and Ora Munson as his ace reporter. The youngster lands in one reform school after another and seems destined to spend his life in jail. Steve points out that if the lad had not grown up in crowded streets, but could have enjoyed the benefits of community chests, he would not have resorted to crime.

Rochester (Eddie Anderson) who plays his first triumphal Harlem engagement at the Apollo theatre this week, is being billed by the house: "The man who made Jack Benny famous."

Once again the familiar songs and the friendly voice of "Smilin' Ed McConnell" will be heard from CJCA every Tuesday and Thursday evening at 8:30. Here is a program that we know you will welcome back, and we suggest that you make it a date to listen to Smilin' Ed on his return to the air.

If you have a problem boy you will enjoy that hatcher of soaring adolescent notions, "That Brewster

Poultry Board Now Functioning in Alberta

ALTA. POULTRY PRODUCERS MARKETING BOARD

By popular request of egg and poultry producers in the province the Alberta Poultry Producers Marketing Board has been established under the Natural Products Act.

The purpose of this producer marketing board is to take control of the handling and packing of eggs and poultry throughout the province by control of licensed operators and generally making regulations where under the trade is expected to operate. It will be the purpose of the board to gradually assume control of the manner in which these products are handled, assembled and marketed and to this end they have purchased the warehouse and business previously operated in the name of B. Wainberg and Co., Edmonton. The board is now in active operation at these premises and at branches and agencies formerly operated by B. Wainberg and Co., receiving shipments of eggs and poultry. The prevailing market price for these products is paid according to grades.

It is the aim this co-operative marketing service to eliminate unnecessary overlapping of assembly and purchasing services and by diverting an increasing volume of eggs and poultry through board channels, to make possible a more stable and uniform return to the producers.

The Marketing Board is a producer organization and it is hoped that through concentrated marketing a greater ultimate return will be made to the producers.

Through the Marketing Board producers can control their products from the farm to the consumer and it will be the policy of the board to extend its organization throughout the province, eliminating costly duplication of services and making available this co-operative marketing service to all producers. How readily this service can be developed to the full extent of the ultimate aim depends upon the support and immediate response which these efforts will receive from the producers generally. It is assumed that, as this enterprise has been launched by the popular request of producers it will be enthusiastically received and supported by all egg and poultry producers located within reach of the marketing board service.

JOHN MASEFIELD, POET LAUREATE, WILL BE GUEST ON "AGAINST THE STORM"

New York, October 30—John Masefield, England's poet laureate, will be a guest on Sandra Michael's radio drama "Against the Storm," on Monday, November 3. Mr. Masefield was last heard in the United States in 1937 when he read a poem composed in tribute to King George VI.

The English poet's voice will be sent from London by short-wave to the NBC studio in New York where the cast of "Against the Storm" is assembled. There it will be "fed in" to the program and broadcast throughout the United States and Canada over the largest network in daytime radio. The program will fill its customary time from 1 to 1:15 p.m.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear grandson, Laurence Meyer, who passed away on October 28, 1940. Just a year ago today. Since you were called away, As we loved you so we miss you, In our memory you are near. No one knows the sorrow, No one knows the pain We have suffered since we lost you. Life has never been the same. Sadly missed by his aunts, Frances and Evelyn, and uncle Gordon and Laurence.

Wedding Bells

PROSSER—FIGENSHAW

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the Irma United church manse on October 30th, when Mrs. Dorcas Figenshaw became the bride of Mr. Wellington Prosser, both of Irma.

The bridal couple were unattended. Rev. E. Longmire officiated.

Mr. and Mrs. Prosser will reside on the groom's farm north-east of Irma.

WEDDING DANCE AND SHOWER

A large company of friends and neighbors gathered at Roseberry school on Monday evening to welcome home newly married Mr. and Mrs. Allen Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Eager, Miss Ross and Mr. Julius Stougaard supplied the music for the dancing. At midnight after a sumptuous lunch, Mr. Clark Steele called on the bride and groom to come forward and accept the host of lovely and useful gifts from the friends present.

After both Mr. and Mrs. Taylor had spoken words of sincere appreciation all joined in singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows" and the party continued for another hour. On leaving all expressed words of good wishes to the happy couple.

The W.I. held a quilting bee at the school on Friday night. While the men of the party played cards, the ladies set up and quilted two warm quilts for refugees. At the close of the evening lunch was served.

Miss Edna Jones is a patient in Mannville hospital where she recently underwent an operation for appendicitis.

Messrs. Claude Ramsay and Howard Schreyer left by car for B.C.

Mrs. C. Bailey of Sylvanville is visiting at the home of her brother, Mr. O. Griffiths.

Mrs. G. W. Hardy and Mrs. Ivan Currie spent the week-end with Miss Mina Currie in Irma.

Miss Winnie Reeves spent last week with her sister, Mrs. C. L. Currie.

Mrs. Peter Laidler is spending the winter with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Ellwood.

WHO'S THE JOKE ON

On Tuesday, someone notified George Stokes that the Mayflower school had been burned down. He phoned the secretary of the division, who registered a claim for insurance to a local agent, who in turn instructed fire adjusters to look the loss over and make settlement. A day or so later two adjusters arrived in Holden from Edmonton, and from this point accompanied by the superintendent and the chairman of the school division started out to the site of the conflagration in the twilight. On approaching the location eager eyes witnessed the Mayflower school standing out in majestic splendor against the horizon. What a disappointment to all concerned. Who was the joke on?—Holden Herald.

Boys we've known since babies

● We see them board the train after their last leave home . . . boys we've known since they were babies. We say "Good Luck . . . we're all pulling for you", as we bid them Good Bye. But are we? Are we "pulling" . . . all we can? What are we doing to help them? Are we giving them the things they need so badly . . . ships and tanks and guns and planes and ammunition? Are we giving them all they need? That's one thing we can do . . . we who stay at home . . . one thing we must do. We must provide the money so much needed to win the war . . . and one way to do that is to buy more War Savings Certificates.

The help of every Canadian is needed for Victory. In these days of war the thoughtless, selfish spender is a traitor to our war effort. A reduction in personal spending is now a vital necessity to relieve the pressure for goods, to enable more and more labour and materials to be diverted to winning the war. The all-out effort, which Canada must make, demands the self-denial of each of us.

Six Months To Live

A brand new issue of EATON Catalogue rolls off the presses. They're big books, hundreds of pages containing values in dozens of different lines.

Months of careful planning and research have gone into their production. The markets of the world have yielded a rich harvest—clothing so completely up-to-fashion—Home Furnishings the "last word" in style—Farm Equipment chosen for reliability and tested for satisfaction.

Every page has been checked and rechecked. Every illustration faithfully represents the actual goods. Yet this Catalogue, so painstakingly compiled, has but six months to live, for at the end of that time another new EATON'S Catalogue will be in your hands.

Year after year, through the medium of its Mail Order Catalogues, EATON'S has kept up with the ever-changing demands of style and fashion and has provided country shoppers with a city shopper's freedom of choice and selection of merchandise.

"Going Back"—2.

Two weeks ago I tried to show that the belief in some sort of mysterious process which led to "going back" or "running out" of crop varieties was ill-founded. So as wheat and barley are concerned, I believe that the necessity for renewal of seed is due to volunteer, mechanical mixing and occasional natural crossing. The proposal to discontinue naming all generations but the first of registered seed of a particular crop is recognition of this principle. So long as wheat and barley stocks will pass field and seed inspection, it is needless to worry about new seed.

Hybrid corn seed must be renewed each year because it owes its vigour to its immediate hybrid ancestry. If we were to produce hybrid seed of wheat, and we could do so at a cost of about $100 per bushel, it would be more vigorous and productive than the standard varieties, and it would "go back" in succeeding generations just as hybrid corn does. There is nothing mysterious about this.

Grain may be different. It seems likely that false wild oats may increase to the point where renewal of seed is necessary. This might be called going back, running out, or anything you like.

Three important imports to England from Scotland are Scotchmen, whiskey and seed potatoes. The Scotchmen drift in like rust, the whiskey flows in because it is welcomed, and potatoes are brought in because English potatoes "go back."

This going back is due to the accumulation of disease necessitating the importation of disease-free seed. But, after all, potato tubers are not seed!

PLAN AIRGRAPH SYSTEM TO SPEED LETTERS FOR OVERSEAS FORCES

With a view to speeding up the delivery of letters from relatives and friends in Canada to the Canadian forces in the United Kingdom, Hon. William P. Mulock, M.C., M.P. postmaster general, stated that arrangements are now under way for the institution of a time and space conserving airgraph service between this country and the United Kingdom.

In keeping with his policy to do everything possible to facilitate the transmission of mail to our forces, with the minimum of loss and delay, Hon. Mr. Mulock is planning to institute this special system at an early date. Following completion of arrangements now under way, a definite announcement will be made by Hon. Mr. Mulock as to the date of commencement.

Under this special system the sender of an airgraph communication writes the message and addresses on a special form provided by the post office. The completed form is next photographed on miniature film which is despatched by air. On arrival in the United Kingdom photographic enlargements are made and delivered through the Army Postal Service to the troops in the usual way. The rate on an airgraph message will be 10 cents.

Home is a place where a man could do as he pleased if it wasn't for his wife.

She was trying to work her way through college selling subscriptions to the Saturday Evening Post. But all the fellows wanted to take Liberties.

Heard among the young fellows at Bruce: "So you've decided not to get that new car you've been looking at?" "Yeh, someone else held the lucky ticket."

Heard at the poker party: "Does your wife eternally pester you for money?" "No, the people she buys things from do that."

Heard at the men's party: "I hear you are going to have a blessed event in your family?" "Yes, my mother-in-law is leaving us."

How is your boy getting along in school?

"Very well, especially in languages. I just got a bill for three courses: Twenty-five for Latin, fifty for Greek, and one hundred for Scotch."

Inspecting officer: Why didn't you shave this morning?

Smart job: I thought I did, but there were twelve of us using the same mirror this morning and I must have shaved some other guy.

The man from the city went to the store at the Missouri crossroads and bought a couple of night shirts. When he had completed his purchase and left the store, a long, lanky backwoodsman asked the merchant:

"What was them things that feller got?" "Nightshirts," replied the merchant. "How about selling you some?" "Not me. I don't get around much at night."

When an American young man tells an American young lady that she looks like a million dollars, the young lady is thrilled from her permanent wave to her manicured toe-nails. But imagine a young English blade telling his English young lady that she looks like a million pounds.

Heard at the neighbors: "Daddy, may I ask a question?" "Yes, son, but it must be a short one."

"If a doctor is doctoring a doctor does the doctor doing the doctoring have to doctor the doctor the way the doctor being doctoring wants to be doctor, or does the doctor doctoring the doctor doctor the way he usually doctors?"

Money, oh money, real money, After the Winnipeg confab, Should flow like milk and honey.

Cowboy: My pardner and I are taking a trip through the desert next week. He's taking along a gallon of whiskey for rattlesnake bites. Dude: And what are you taking along?

Cowboy: A couple of rattlesnakes.

Boss: You're late this morning Rastus.

Rastus: Well, sah, boss, when I looked in de mirror, ah couldn't see mahself there, so ah thought ah'd gone to work. After awhile ah discovered dat de glass had dropped out of de frame.

"Did you knock on that traveling man's door and wake him as I told you to do?" inquired the boarding house lady.

"Yes'm," replied the new maid fresh from the country. "But he didn't wake up, so I finally had to go in and shake him."

"Good heavens, don't you know better than to ever go into a traveling salesman's room?" "Yes'm," responded the new maid, "I do now."

The professor seemed greatly irritated at the action of a student. "Listen here, young man," he exclaimed, "are you the professor of this class?"

"No, sir, I'm not," answered the young man boldly. "Well, then, stop acting like a fool."

Canada Year Book

The publication of the 1941 edition of the Canada Year Book published by authorization of the Hon. James A. MacKinnon, minister of trade and commerce, is announced by the dominion bureau of statistics. The Canada Year Book is the official statistical annual of the country and contains a thoroughly up-to-date account of the natural resources of the dominion and their development, the history of the country, its institutions, its demography, the different branches of production, trade, transportation, finance, education, etc.—in brief a comprehensive study within a single volume of the social and economic condition of the dominion. This new edition has been thoroughly revised throughout and includes in all its chapters the latest information available up to the date of going to press.

The 1941 Canada Year Book extends to over 1,000 pages, dealing with all phases of the national life and more especially with those susceptible of statistical measurement. A statistical summary of the progress of Canada is included in the introductory matter. This gives a picture in figures of the remarkable progress that the country has made since the first census of the dominion was taken in 1871, seventy years ago.

Persons requiring the Year Book may obtain it from the King's Printer, Ottawa, as long as the supply lasts, at the price of $1.50 per copy; this covers merely the cost of paper, printing and binding. By a special concession, a limited number of paper-bound copies have been set aside for ministers of religion, bona fide students and school teachers, who may obtain such copies at the nominal prices of 50 cents each, but application for these special copies should be directed to the Dominion Statistician, Dominion Bureau of Statistics, Ottawa.

The World of Wheat

by H. G. L. Strange
Director of the Searle Grain Co.

As the analysis of the work of this last summer's "Crop Testing Plan" proceeds, most interesting information is being disclosed. It is found that over 600 farmers were growing a wheat variety that was certainly not the variety they thought they were producing, and which they intended to grow.

This situation often caused needless loss of income to the farmer. In some instances in the rust areas farmers thought they were growing rust-resistant varieties, and actually they were growing Marquis or Reward or Red Bobs, which are susceptible to rust. In other instances farmers who wished to grow an early variety were actually found to be growing quite a late maturing variety which, in some districts, has been caught by the heavy autumn rains and still remains unthreshed.

Some of these farmers had paid good money for the seed which they used and which the "Crop Testing Plan" analysis found was not of the variety it was represented to be.

All this means that farmers should be very careful about the seed they buy. Registered and Certified seed sealed in the sack can always be depended upon, for it is inspected rigorously both in the field and in the sack by the Canadian Seed Growers' Association and by the dominion government.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

For successful baking don't overcrowd your oven. At least a one inch space should be left between every pan and the edge of the oven.

Batter prepared for fritters will keep for days if poured into a glass jar, sealed and kept in the refrigerator. Chilling makes a lighter batter.

A heavy streak at the bottom of a cake usually is due to incomplete blending of ingredients. This is especially true when only egg yolks are used in the batter.

To make even edged butter pats fold a small piece of waxed paper over the sharp edge of a small paring knife and cut the butter into squares. The paper keeps the edges smooth and even.

CAR AND LIGHT TRUCK COLLIDE EAST OF TOWN

As the result of a collision between a car and a light truck about three and a half miles east of town on Highway No. 14 Monday evening at about 7 o'clock, two people are in the local hospital suffering from effects of the accident.

In the car driven by Mr. G. McFadyen, of Viking, were his wife, daughter, Miss Mary, and Mr. Jas. Bunn. In the light truck were Wm. H. Steick, Roy McKinney and Clarence Borgal, of Killam.

The folks in the McFadyen car were returning from a visit to Mr. Bunn's daughter, Mrs. McFarland at Fabyan, and when about three and a half miles east of town suddenly came upon a team and wagon, alleged to be driven by Leslie Pyke of Kinsella district, whom we understand was on his way to somewhere near Edmonton. In the gathering dusk, and the wagon being without any reflectors, it is stated, Mr. McFadyen did not see the vehicle until right behind it so put on the brakes to avoid hitting the wagon, and his car swerved to the centre of the highway just as the light truck was passing. The car and truck collided and were badly smashed. As the car overturned it pinned the occupants inside who had to be extricated from the wreckage. Miss Mary McFadyen was found unhurt, but her mother, father, and Mr. Bunn were rushed to the hospital for medical attention. Mrs. McFadyen suffered a broken leg and shock, Mr. Bunn, who is over 90 years of age, suffered cuts to his face and several bruises. Mr. McFadyen suffered a wrenched knee but is able to be around. Clarence Borgal in the truck was taken to the hospital suffering from head wounds, the others escaped with only minor scratches. Const. Clark of the R.C.M.P. detachment here, gave assistance and made investigation at the scene of the accident.

Wednesday, November 5th, will be the next L.O.B.A. whist drive, the second in the series of four. The lucky winners at the first card party were Miss Luella Lederman who got ladies' first; Mr. David Andrews who had the top score for the men; while Miss Audrey Jones and Mr. Martin Enger came in for the two consolation prizes.

CHANGE REGULATION FOR 'CANADA' BADGE

Ottawa, Oct. 28—Henceforth, defence headquarters said Tuesday, wearing of the legend "Canada" on the sleeves indicates a member of the Canadian Active Army is a volunteer for service overseas. Previously the wearing of the "Canada" badge was restricted to soldiers about to embark.

"Issuance of the badge to all volunteers for overseas service as soon as they get their uniforms will remove the lack of distinction between volunteers for overseas service and personnel of the Reserve Army," said a defence department statement.

SAVE THESE CANS

Proper care and repair will increase the life of milk and cream cans and assist Canada's War effort.

SHORTAGE OF MILK AND CREAM CANS

The dairy industry of Canada might be affected by a shortage of milk and cream cans, states D. H. McCallum, dairy commissioner, department of agriculture, Edmonton. The purchase of steel in Canada has been restricted to those industries engaged in the manufacture of essential war materials, which means that it will become more difficult to secure milk and cream cans as the war continues. Even now there are factories experiencing difficulty in obtaining new cans.

There are many discarded cans throughout the country which could be repaired and retinned at a reasonable cost. While a few years ago some tinning companies discontinued the practice of retinning cans due to the price of new ones, this is not the case today as new cans seem out of the question.

It now becomes a patriotic duty for every producer to have discarded cans repaired and retinned through the creamery or cheese factory purchasing his product.

Dairy products and steel are both vital to Canada's war effort. This is a special appeal for all farmers to co-operate by putting into circulation all discarded milk or cream cans.

The dairy branch offers a few suggestions which will aid producers and factories in preserving the present supply in a satisfactory condition:

1. All cans should be properly washed, sterilized and dried before leaving the factory.

2. When cans are returned from the factory remove the lids and turn upside down on a rack. Wash and scald with boiling water before filling with cream or milk.

3. Do not throw or batter cans. This practice opens seams and soon causes them to be discarded.

4. Empty cans should not be left exposed to the weather at the factory, farm or road side. This practice allows the lid to fill up with rain water which enters when can through the hole used for seals causing rust.

5. Do not use milk or cream cans for hauling water or whey. This is bound to cause rusting.

6. Cans showing rust spots, whether discarded or still in use, should be taken to your dairy factory where they will be collected and forwarded for repairs and retinning.

The dairy industry can contribute further to the war effort by preserving and retinning all old milk and cream cans.

FIRST SIGNS OF LAND BOOM IN U.S.

Roger Babson is pretty well known in the U.S. and Canada as a man who watches for economic trends so that the man with money will be able to keep it. He has been predicting a strong speculative movement in farm lands and warning against it. According to the Cut Bank, Montana, Press, the movement is already beginning to appear in the Northwest with a large number of sales of farm lands in Minnesota and a few in the Dakotas. The paper recalls the land buying craze which swept the middle west soon after the last war when land priced at around $50 rose to a peak of around $500 an acre, before the bubble was pricked, wrecking farmers, bankers and sales agencies. After examining the effects, the paper decides that "we want no land boom here."

World's Week

By HAROLD L. WEIR
Associate Editor and Daily Columnist of the Edmonton Bulletin

The thorny question of renewed Franco-German collaboration appears to have struck an early snag in Chief of State Marshall Henri Philippe Petain's refusal to agree to important new Nazi demands.

Vichy showed an inclination to pick up "collaboration" following

German announcements of advances in Russia which made a deep impression on many of the easily convinced leaders of the new France. The Nazis took immediate advantage of the situation and said

Harold L. Weir that Vichy must make a token move as evidence of good faith in future dealings. All they asked was the removal of Gen. Weyand as commander of French north African forces and perhaps his appointment to some distant, unrelated post.

The demand foreshadowed for some time in Vichy, carried considerable concern there. Few doubt that it was but a forerunner of insistence on additional concessions although for the moment the Nazis are not asking further north African facilities, which Petain strongly opposes.

The disappearance of Gen. Weyand as an active leader would remove, aside from the Marshall himself, the last major uncertain factor in French reactions to German plans. The demand was presented to Adm'l Darlan in Paris the middle of last week almost in the form of an ultimatum although it carried no specified time limit. In the event of refusal, the Nazis declared, they would reconsider the "armistice" terms.

Aside from its strategic importance, the North Africa problem has another important aspect. Many feel that the question of Franco-American relationships hinges on Vichy's course. Concessions would provoke a rupture with the United States—a condition the Nazis have been trying for months to achieve.

The fate of French North Africa is one of the most vital phases of the entire policy of collaboration. Vichy has resisted—formally, at any rate, but each new German setback has been followed by altered demands, usually for French concessions, although on a reduced scale.

It may now be disclosed that on May 28 the collaborationists supported by Adm'l Darlan reached an agreement with the Nazis for turning over the important naval base of Bizerta and holding out promises of a similar surrender of Casablanca in the near future.

In return the French were offered certain relatively small concessions regarding the demarcation line and other international relationships. The agreement was to have been implemented on July 15 but Marshall Petain refused to initial, using as technical grounds the alleged Nazis' failure to honor their end of the bargain. Adm'l Darlan himself is reported to be chagrined by the German double-dealing and to be less trustful now of their promises.

R.C.A.F. SCHOOL TO OPEN AT VERMILION

Vermilion agricultural school, provincial centre that was made available to the department of national defence, will be opened as a tuition centre for potential pilots and observers in the R.C.A.F. Lt. Harry E. Jones, recruiting officer, announced this week that such young men lacking required educational standing will be given an intensive 18-week course. "The Royal Canadian Air Force will give a potential pilot or observer free education and pay his living expenses," said Lt. Jones. Qualifications for admittance are two years high school or 35 credits; medical air crew pass; between 17 years and eight months and 33 years. Men living at home will receive $7 a week, those boarding, $9; and for married men, $12. Courses start Nov. 18.

WOODSHEDS

(Christian Science Monitor)

This is the time of year when good farmers enjoy the contemplation of a season's work. The barns and granaries are full of fodder and grains. The cellar shelves are filled with orderly rows of canned fruits and vegetables, jams and jellies and pickles.

But many a good husbandman pauses a moment these autumn nights as he comes in when barn chores are done to let the mellow light from the lantern play over the heaped wood in the woodshed. There is something deeply and satisfyingly pleasant about a shed full of fuel for the winter: The remembrance of those happy hours in the woodlot last winter when the frosty, sunny hours inspired one to swing his ax with the joy of good physical work; the memory of loading it on the sled and the trips with Buttercup, the Morgan mare, who loves the woods in winter as you do.

One thinks of the sawing machine and how it sang that blustery March morning and the bluebird that carolled all day from the apple tree by the corner of the shed. One remembers how he enjoyed splitting the logs, and the wheelbarrow trips to the shed. There's the recollection of the pleasure on rainy days during the summer when the split sticks were split according to plan dictated by experience, so that the oak, the maple, the birch, and the pine limbs would be available at all times.

Now, on fall nights, with the season's work drawing to a close, the farmer looks at his woodpile. More there than orderly stacks of fuel wood. The philosopher was only partly right who said that a man's woodpile warns him twice—once when he cuts it, and again when he burns it. It warms him a little when he just looks at it in the shed.

Historians tell us that women used cosmetics in the Middle Ages. For that matter women in the middle ages still use them.
